Dedication

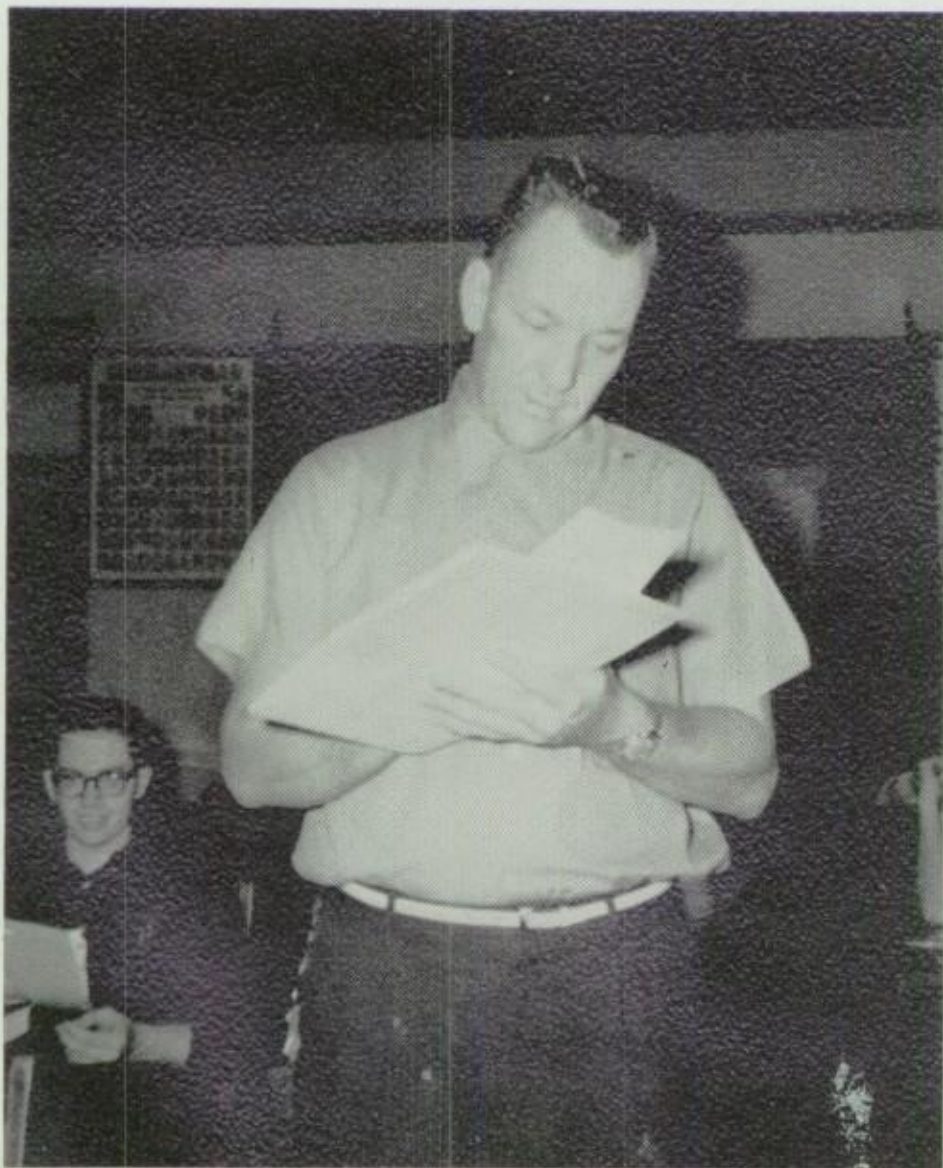

Mr. Cremer

DEDICATION for Mr. Kenneth Cremer.

To you, Mr. Cremer, we, the Signet Staff of 1964, wish to dedicate this annual, in appreciation of your cheery smile, ever-ready hello, and fine guidance through your teaching stay at Effingham High School.

Is Mr. Cremer always this busy?

Mr. Cremer loves children!

Mr. Cremer is a very industrious person!

In Memoriam

Earl T. Goodfellow

"Uncle Earl"

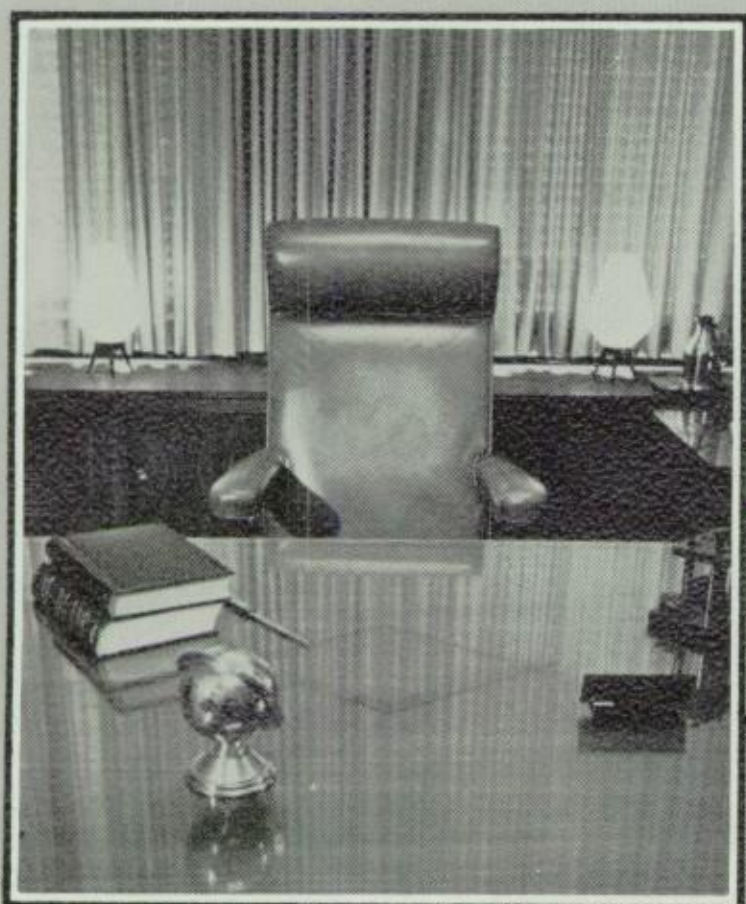

He gained our loyalty by being faithful to us,
He achieved our trust by the confidence he placed in us,
He was granted our respect through his own gentility.
He was not flawless, but very much a man.

Perhaps his intolerance of the weak and superficial made him seem stronger.
We could never understand why criticism from him was sharper,
Why it meant and mattered more than the same words from another.
He would not always let us rest when we tired,
But pushed until we understood.

He was more than instructor - - -
He was human, friendly, and warm.
He was always a friend.

He had his trademarks:
A crinkling grin;
A cheery, stupid, finger-in-mouth "Ah-dooah;"
A dented waste-can he kicked periodically to keep us awake.
An abnormal pride, justified, in his work.

But that is all gone now - - -
Or is it?
No, he will never be gone.
He is just away.

Principal's Message

Many of us see the world as a place of brilliant and warm colors, while others see it only in single hues: red, or green, or yellow.

It is essential to see all colors instead of just one if we want a balance in our lives. Many of America's people today fail to see the whole rainbow but, unfortunately, only see one shade or they believe in running after the pot of gold supposed to be at the end. For a happy existence we need to be in balance; this comes when we take all things in the proper order of importance.

Here our pretty cheerleaders take a moment out from their evening practice to give our photographer a smile. SORRY BOYS: NO PHOTOGRAPHERS NEEDED.

To the right we see our girls at an evening practice. The girls spent many of their extra hours striving to please us.

In the picture we see the girls leading our football team on to another victory.

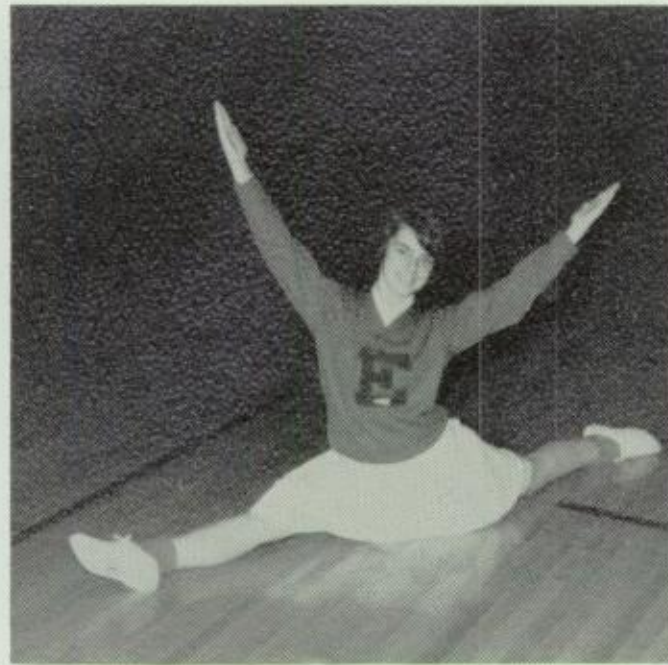

Here the girls lead us in a pep session. We must admit; getting us to yell was a pretty hard job sometimes.

Literati

Literati is one of the most respected and widely recognized organizations in our school. It is composed of students enrolled in pre-college rhetoric or English literature who are making a "C" or above average. Its enjoyable meetings further understanding of various forms of literature. The atmosphere of learning prevails throughout the monthly meetings of this club.

Literati has had various fine programs this year. The first program was a panel discussion on James Thurber, the noted author. Leon Ooton was program chairman. The November program was in recognition of the 100th Anniversary of the Gettysburg Address. Mary Stevens was program chairman for this meeting. The annual Christmas party, with the various games and traditional Christmas candle, included a program of Christmas poems and stories under the leadership of Keith Walker. After semester exams the Literati club met for a panel discussion on the book Vandalia: Wilderness Capital of Lincoln's Land written by our club's sponsor, Miss Mary Burtschi. Patty Thompson headed this discussion. The February meeting was a discussion of a former great President Abraham Lincoln, with Chip McClure as program chairman. William Shakespeare, the noted author and playwright, was the topic of the last formal meeting of the year. Marsha Ruffner headed this program assisted by Joy Willenborg. The annual Arbitrium, where the essay and poetry winners along with the students who gained recognition for some outstanding achievement are honored, was held in April. A Picnic at Lake Sara in May closed the Club's successful year.

I am sure all members gained much enjoyment and furthered their fund of knowledge through their membership in this fine and outstanding club.

Dear Judy,

It seems only days ago that we were in grade school, playing jokes on the nuns. I'll always remember those days. Remember ~~when~~ ^{when} we went out for cheerleading? I'll never forget how shy and scared you looked that first day of school when we were in ~~the~~ ^{6th} grade. (HA!) Remember the day you ~~sky~~ shipped? I do! Now! How did you like our 6th grade franciscan? Now! Those were the good ole baby days. Now we have advanced into the years of teens. Along with the broken hearts have come more joys and pleasures. I'll bet you'll never forget your first ~~can't~~ ^{can't} All of the different boys whom we had crushes on. I'll bet you'll never forget them, time has really flown by. 2 years have me by and there are only 2 more left. In a way I wish they would stand still for a little while to give me a chance to decide what I would like to do in this ole life. I have really cherished our friendships these past years. I will enjoy becoming even closer friends with you throughout the year. You are the nuttiest kid I've ever known. I really enjoy seeing people laugh. I hope we never get apart. I wish ~~to~~ you the very best of luck with John and hope you wish me the same kind of luck with Larry (Now!) Best luck in the future to nicest friend a person can have.

Dearest Darling, I really thrill me to write in your book! Last year I only knew you more or less as a speaking friend. Now we only had P.E. & home ec. together. Our friendship has grown a great deal this past year and I hope it remains as such. Next year I'm in hopes that we have more of our classes together. With 2 years remaining here at E. H. S. I want to wish you all the success you can have. Also Best of Luck in the future to area sweet (and I mean it) kid. By the way I'll never forget the slumber party which Kay had! As always,
